

CSS Corp opens Mauritius centre, to hire 1500

TNN, Feb 5, 2011, 05.53am | CHENNAI

CSS Corp, a technology services provider, on Friday said it would hire close to 1,500 people this fiscal and has recently started operations in Mauritius. It currently has around 5,000 employees.

Addressing the media here, Nick Sharma, CEO of CSS Corp, said, "In view of globalization, we are expanding our services portfolio. As far as hiring goes, we are heavily investing in employee retention and also keen on adding more people. We aim to emerge as an end-to-end information and communications technology services company."

Announcing the expansion plans, Sanjiva Singh, president & chief strategy officer, said, "We have opened an office in Mauritius which is in line with our mission to increase our global footprint. With an investment of over $ 500 million, this office will essentially offer enterprise technical support services and multilingual technical support services, especially French, for consumer products."

Source: http://bit.ly/timesofindia_csscorp