

Key Trends for the Year 2012...

©TJinsite | January 17, 2012

The last quarter of 2011 has been slightly tense and has kept organisations on guard. In the IT services space, there will be a requirement of people who are willing to multi-task and take up additional responsibilities in terms of client deliverables. Social media attractions, lesser openings but better offers/packages and bigger hikes will be the focus of the year.
